

Sinnissippi Foundation Annual Report for 2014

SINNISSIPPI
FOUNDATION

The Sinnissippi Foundation serving our communities

A message from the Sinnissippi Foundation Board of Directors

Dear friends of the Foundation,

It has been heartening and touching to see the outpouring of support you have given the Foundation in the past year. You have recognized that it is these challenging economic times that also see the greatest need for those who might otherwise have to do without.

It has been equally heartening to see the number of lives the Foundation has been able to touch because of your generosity.

Without your support, a family might have gone without heat or might not have found safe housing. Without your support, a family might not have enjoyed a holiday meal. Without your support, an individual may have gone without vital medications or the treatment they need.

Through your generosity, the Foundation has been able to make a commitment to improving the health of children and families in our communities through significant support of the Community That Cares Project (CTC). There is also now a CTC Project Fund that donors can directly support. This ground breaking project is blazing new territory in the collaboration of agencies and coordination of care for children with social/emotional needs. CTC has been instrumental in helping parents get the information and support they need to improve their overall family wellness.

The Foundation was able to establish a second new fund in 2014, the Jim Sarver Education Fund, which will allow Sinnissippi Centers' clients to obtain their GED. Achieving this step will allow them to go on to further their education or advance in their employment.

As you read the pages of this annual report, you will see what has been accomplished through your support of the Foundation and what you can look forward to in the months to come.

Thank you again for helping the Sinnissippi Foundation meet so many needs. Together, we will continue our mission: Helping individuals and families, and increasing awareness of mental health, substance use and other behavioral healthcare issues.

Providing help offering hope & promoting wellness

Supporting Healthy Kids

The Community That Cares (CTC) Project continues to help kids and families live healthier, happier lives. CTC's major funding source, a 5-year grant,

Children and families are the center of the CTC project ends in December 2015. In 2016, CTC will rely heavily on donations to continue their work. Recognizing the importance of continuing the project, The Sinnissippi Foundation has partnered with the community to raise funds to support CTC. In addition, the Foundation established the Community That Cares Project Fund as an option for donors to designate their support.

CARING More Than Ever

A record level of requests were received in 2014 by the Foundation to meet the emergency needs of individuals and families. 133 CARES Fund requests were granted, totaling over $15,500. CARES requests help to provide safe housing or prevent eviction, help individuals obtain vital medications, or keep the heat on during the cold winter months. Since 2008, when requests began to rise rapidly, there has been an increase of over 500% in funds distributed. The Foundation has been able to keep pace with the requests thanks to the generosity of donors and sponsors.

Wellness & Recovery

Nearly 150 individuals attended the annual Wellness and Recovery Celebration held at Sinnissippi Centers' Dixon office. Sponsored by both Sinnissippi Centers and the Sinnissippi Foundation, the annual Wellness and Recovery Celebration is held each September during Recovery Month. Those who are in recovery from a mental illness, a drug or alcohol problem, their family members and other supporters, as well as families seeking wellness all enjoy attending the annual celebration. Speakers tell their unique stories of recovery to encourage others to seek treatment and to continue their recovery.

Jim Sarver Education Fund

Without an adequate education, individuals do not have all of the tools they need to achieve a higher quality of life. The Jim Sarver Education Fund, named to honor former Sinnissippi Centers' President/CEO Jim Sarver, has been established to help Sinnissippi clients take the required tests to receive their GED. The fund will pay for a variety of costs, including test preparation, testing fees, and other costs associated with getting a GED.

Jim Sarver, Sinnissippi Centers' President/CEO from 1989 to 2013.

A Great Day of Golf

The annual Foundation Golf Open continues to be an enjoyable event to raise funds for the Sinnissippi Foundation. The 22nd Annual Golf Open was held August 14, 2014, at Timber Creek Golf Club. A full field of 144 golfers took to the links to help raise over $25,000 in support of the

Celebrating Milestones

The Sinnissippi Foundation's annual Expressions Art Sale and Reception and the art gallery where it is held, The Next Picture Show, celebrated a common milestone in 2014. It was the 10th Anniversary year for both the Foundation's art fund raiser and the gallery. It was a wonderful first ten years together. Expressions offers paintings, photographs, and other genres of art for sale. The pieces are donated by local and regional artists. In addition, there is a wide variety of silent auction items up for bid. The 10th annual Expressions was notable in another way: The event raised more funds than in any other year, nearly $17,000.

For Community

"For Community" became the unofficial theme of the Gardenstock Art & Music Festival in 2014. The event is an annual fund raiser for Sinnissippi's Youth Garden Project. Not only does Gardenstock benefit the garden project, but it has also helped play a role in something of an art and music revival in the area. The 6th Annual Gardenstock saw over 2,000 art and music lovers attend. World renowned blues guitarist Gerry Joe Weise graced the Gardenstock stage again, along with famed New York Jazz musician Juma Sultan.

Strong Support

The Sinnissippi Foundation continued to receive strong support during the annual Sinnissippi Employee, Alumni, and Board Campaign. The May-June effort raised the most funds since 2007. In 2014, over two-thirds of employees made a gift or pledge and nearly 130 individuals participated in all. It was in 2008 that a downward economic trend began that affected fund raising for many non-profits. During the same period, the number of individuals and families in need rose. In 2008 requests to the Foundation began to steadily increase. This is a trend which continues to this day.

A Wonderful Gift

The Sinnissippi Foundation's Holiday Appeal received a wonderful gift: Donations increased 66% compared to the previous year. The appeal was sent to individuals, organizations, and businesses just prior to Thanksgiving. Historically, donations continue to arrive through early spring. To date, the 2014 Holiday Appeal has raised just over $8,800.00. Some of the increase can be credited to the newest funds of the Foundation; the Community That Cares Project and the Jim Sarver Education Funds.

Holiday Food Baskets

The Foundation's Holiday Food Basket Project was one of the biggest in the history of the Foundation. Over two tons of food was distributed to Sinnissippi Centers' client families in need in Carroll, Lee, Ogle, and Whiteside Counties. In all, 190 baskets were distributed to families that benefited a total of 674 individuals. Volunteers pack and distribute the baskets just prior to the two major holidays: Thanksgiving and Christmas. The contents of one basket costs an average of $30. It is often the only holiday meal these families enjoy during the season.

Taste of Fiesta

A popular cultural event was revived, in part, due to the support of the Sinnissippi Foundation. The Taste of Fiesta was held on September 6, 2014, in Sterling. The Foundation provided assistance by serving as a financial agent for donations to the event's organizational committee. In future years, organizers will have their own non-profit organization that will receive that support. The Taste of Fiesta provides an opportunity for families to learn about available resources in the community while enjoying rich cultural traditions.

Good Stewardship

The Sinnissippi Foundation continues to look towards the future and how we can impact the lives of others in a positive way. That is made possible through the generous donations and event sponsorships of a great many individuals, organizations, and businesses. The Foundation seeks to take the greatest care in ensuring your gifts positively impact the lives of those we serve. At the same time it is very important that we also keep the cost of what we do at the lowest level possible to help the greatest number of people. An added benefit; funds stay in the communities we serve.

Meeting the needs of individuals & families

A Few New Faces

In 2014, the Sinnissippi Foundation welcomed three new board members: Jon Berens, Carol Nieman, and Paula Sherman. All three are active in community volunteer work. Berens is also the President/CEO of Northern Illinois Cancer Treatment Center located in Dixon. All three have been welcome additions to the board. Board members are often seen participating in Foundation projects and events.

Getting More Active

The Sinnissippi Foundation has gone through a period of change. Beginning in early 2014, the Foundation's Board of Directors began meeting more frequently and engaging in more strategic planning. There has been a renewed focus on being more active in the direction and the day to day activities of the Foundation.

Helping to Afford Care

One initiative supported by donations to the Foundation is the Client Fee Assistance Program. Even with coverage under the Affordable Care Act, some individuals still cannot afford some, or all, of their treatment. Through this program, Sinnissippi Centers' clients can receive additional services. Ongoing care is key to maintaining mental wellness and avoiding crises.

Supporting Others

The Sinnissippi Foundation provides support to a variety of projects. This includes Sinnissippi Centers' projects as well those of other community organizations. The Foundation made 28 grants of nearly $5,400.00 in 2014, including:

- New Horizons Ogle County Drug Court
- Better Living Focus Group
- Tools for School
- Coats for Kids
- Creative Expressions Art Therapy Groups
- Early Childhood Mental Health Program
- Healthy Families Illinois Program
