My Treatment Philosophy

My practice is person-centered: Meeting clients where they're at and helping them get to where they want to be. I believe in looking at the whole rather than just the parts.

A little bit about me...

I enjoy going to forest preserves, drawing, creating music, and playing games in my free time. You'll find elements of my interests scattered across my office as you become acquainted with me! My pets, friends, and chosen family are all very important to me and I love spending time with them any chance I get.
