My Treatment Philosophy

My mission, first and foremost, is to help clients build healthy relationships with themselves and the people they hold dear. My work extends from a humanistic and client centered perspective. Our process will be influenced by your history and background, but our work together is grounded in the pragmatic and compassionate present.

A little bit about me...

I enjoy immersing myself in books and cuddling with my cats, especially in the winter. I'm an avid gardener during the spring and summer and continue to challenge myself with new vegetables and flowers. My husband and I enjoy traveling when the time allows!
