My Treatment Philosophy

My counseling approach utilizes a holistic approach to wellness that incorporates client's strengths into addressing their short- and long-term needs. I employ a collaborative approach that seeks to address the client's goals relative to their background, culture, spiritual/religious background, and personal goals. We are all worthy of achieving our potential and I love helping people get there.

A little bit about me...

I enjoy music festivals, traveling, reading, and playing my bass. I love trying new activities that I've not done before.
